

Block Diagram

Operation process:

- The power source will trigger the servo, so that the servo will move the block that pushes the balls
- The push button will be triggered so that the LED lights on the controller will be turned on
- The power source triggers the transistor to turn on the green LED lights indicating which players' turn
- The power source triggers the transistor to display the winner on the LCD